

Patagonian

We are a Latin American company, based in non-traditional tech hubs, with an ever growing talent pool that is dedicated to building world class software development outsourcing services.

SOFTWARE OUTSOURCING SERVICES

We are passionate developers of great technology products. Our holistic expertise in software solutions allows us to intervene in all stages of our client's projects, doesn't matter their size.

Software Development

With over 10 years of experience in software product development, we provide scalable solutions to companies ranging from startups to Fortune 500. Combining top diverse talent and a proven track record of success, we're ready to help our clients bring their ideas to life.

Multi-disciplinary talent

We are a one-stop software outsourcing solution that provides the full product development cycle services under one roof, encompassing product discovery, strategy building, UI/UX design, product development and QA testing along with maintenance and support services.

WHAT WE CAN DO FOR YOU

Agile development

Agile development ensures greater collaboration between businesses and cross-functional development teams. We are agile experts, and all of our Project Managers are Certified Scrum Masters, leading to unmatched speed, efficiency, and productivity. This agile methodology followed by a highly disciplined team helps establish a fail-proof process to ensure that the sign-offs promised in the requirements are met

Faster time to market

Having a dedicated and cohesive agile team can accelerate your deployment cycles, and by outsourcing with Patagonian you do not need to worry about finding the right talent and extended staffing times.

Focus on quality

Patagonian is ISO certified, having accredited that our software development methods are quality oriented. We have a Quality Assurance area with a Manager who guarantees that every process and day-to-day operations comply with each project.

Scalability and availability

We follow continuous integration practices and automate all development lifecycle tasks. We use automated tools to ensure our code follows industry standards.

Benefits Of Our Custom Software Development

Our engineers are in constant training, not only learning new technologies but also acquiring and renewing certifications. All of our project managers are certified scrum masters.

Software outsourcing can save you a lot of money on salaries, whilst driving innovation and growth. We export 90% of what we do but we don't believe in one-size-fits-all solutions, which is why for us each project is unique and will require a specific set of technologies, methodologies and skills to deliver the best result.

We are well-versed in different development methodologies, allowing us to choose the right one for each project.

about us

We are a multinational tech company with offices in Argentina, Colombia and the USA. With our multidisciplinary teams we create products for companies and organizations from various industries around the world.
